THE "TREATY PORTS OF CHINA & JAPAN," AND "NOTES AND QUERIES ON CHINA AND JAPAN."
EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS.
(From the "Friend of India," June 4, 1868.) We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the numbers for the current year of "Notes and Queries," a most deserving Anglo-Chinese monthly, edited by Mr. N.
B. DENNY, whose "Treaty Ports of China and Japan" are so well known. From the names attached to the "Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the best Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not confined to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and generally to all who are interested in oriental antiquities. It deserves to be better known in India.
(From the "Straits Times," July 27, 1868.)
Some time ago we had occasion to remark upon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication which deserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the knowledge of our readers. We allude to Notes and Queries on China and Japan, published monthly by Mr. Saint, the proprietor of the China Mail newspaper. This publication is well printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like the well-known and valuable work of the same name, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the languages, literature, history, manners and customs of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese.
It says a good deal for the extent and stability of the footing of Europeans in China, that such a publication as this should be established and conducted with apparently successful vigour.
The publication is altogether a very interesting one, and wishing it every success, we commend it to the attention and support of our readers.
(From the "London Examiner," May 16, 1868.)
This really useful volume ["Treaty Ports of China and Japan"] is intended as a guide for travellers and residents in China and Japan, and as a book of reference for persons generally. It contains an account, historical and political, of all the open ports of these countries, together with Peking, Yedo, Hongkong, and Macao. It has been carefully compiled and edited by Mr. N. B. DENNY; and the elaborate maps and plans with which the work abounds, considerably enhance its value. * * *
We have thus given in outline some of the more prominent portions of the chapters devoted to Canton, as a specimen of the whole volume. Other chapters treating of Macao, Formosa, Ningpo, Shanghai, and the remainder of the treaty ports, we can only enumerate. The pages describing Peking, the capital, are so interesting, and contain so much that is new to European readers respecting its history, public buildings, and general characteristics, that we would fain transfer them to our columns.
A complete and intelligible plan of the Imperial City and neighbourhood, gives us an accurate notion of the relative position of its divisions, streets, and places.
In the introductory chapter to the notices of the Treaty Ports of Japan will be found a succinct history of that Empire, together with remarks on its government, geography, and limits, which will be found particularly interesting as throwing a considerable light on a part of the world so long entirely, and still comparatively, unknown to Europeans.
The descriptions of Nagasaki, Yedo, Yokohama, and the other Treaty Ports of Japan, are so elaborate and entertaining as those of the Chinese ports. A copious index and a useful appendix containing many hints and much appropriate advice to travellers and others, is also included in the volume. The entire work affords a vast amount of information, pleasantly written, and we doubt not will be perused with interest by many who will never visit the Eastern seas.

THE CHINA MAIL.
HONGKONG, THURSDAY, NOV. 19, 1868.
The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court at Singapore lately pronounced judgment in a case which attracted a good deal of attention there. It is not destitute of interest for Hongkong in view of the administration of justice, for it was a case of "contempt of court," and its result supports Sam Wallis's observation, that there are "Magistrates who commit themselves twice as often as they commit other people." Mr. Davidson, a legal practitioner in the Supreme Court, came into verbal collision with Captain Ord, one of the commissioners for the recovery of small debts. The legal man was not engaged in any case at the time, but had waited on the commissioner at the latter's request in reference to a certain notice of appeal. Both allege perfect innocence of provocation, but Captain Ord admits that he told Davidson his "tone was contemptuous." Davidson thereupon left the court. "I turned round (says he), punishment, for what to him, as a Magistrate, was no crime at all, but is on the contrary encouraged by the legislature.

The fact is that this case (like the one which followed it) is an illustration of the abominable moral injustice which is fostered by regulations which both hold out inducements to the uneducated black, and then come down upon him with condign punishment if he gives way to the temptation. We are not upholding the Sikh who officially deserved punishment—though from a different source—for breaking regulations he perfectly understood. But, we confidently ask any educated reader, what impression does he think can be made upon the Chinese mind by such a queer mixture of encouragement and condemnation? We put irresistible temptation before natives, and then punish them for yielding to it!

The "coolie" trade seems to be developing itself in the South Seas. Laborers are wanted in the British Colony of Queensland. In January last a number were landed at Moreton Bay from an English brig. How they were obtained may be learnt from the following extract from a statement made by the cook and steward of the vessel:—

"We then sailed to an island named Manicou, where we put a boat to land with the natives, who came swimming out to meet us, bringing plenty of coconuts with them, and taken down to see the mysteries of the hold, when the vessel set sail, the canoes went out and, and were away from the island. The wives of some of these men swam after the ship for more than three miles, crying loudly for the restoration of their husbands."

It is stated that of the 110 persons thus got together, 24 died on the voyage.
This mode of recruiting the Queensland army of laborers has naturally elicited strong denunciations from the newspapers, and official measures have been adopted for its suppression. The courts which engage in this "traffic" are so far honored—shameless—that they do not disguise it under a hypocritical pretence of promoting emigration. We sincerely trust they will meet with the punishment they richly deserve, and our feelings on the matter are elastic enough to extend the application of the hope to all persons who in any manner profit by kidnapping their fellow-creatures.

The following paragraphs are from the Straits Times of Nov. 17th:— It is with unforgotten regret that we have to record, according to its own announcement, the demise of our worthy contemporary, the Free Press. This paper has been in existence for over thirty-three years, and during the most of that period was conducted with rare ability and cautious discretion.
While it was under the conduct of its original proprietor, it was held in the highest esteem and consideration by all and sundry connected with the Straits Settlements. And that it did good yeoman's service in its time, any one who knows anything of the history of affairs in the Straits will be at once acknowledged with effusion and sincerity.
[Surely the community of Singapore will not rest content with one paper.—Ed.

The Pennang Gazette of the 17th ultimo publishes a long and exhaustive letter concerning fees on Processions, Licenses, &c.
The writer criticizes very severely all the Legislative enactments and Orders in Council which have been promulgated by the Colonial Government, and indeed roundly accuses them to be in many respects illegal, and amounting to extortion. The Gazette had also in the same issue two letters from the Col. Man, dated February last, relating to the Chinese riots in August last year, and giving the facts as to the money levied from the two societies concerned in the riots. It appears that the Chiefs of the Ghee Hins and Top Poh Kongs signed bonds for $35,250 for each Society, and gave security for their payment by grants of land or houses. The Top Poh Kongs paid $8,250, cash down, and delivered up the bond for their Kongs' bonds for the balance.
The Ghee Hins gave bonds for a corresponding amount. This Government got possession of property to the value of over $70,000! What has been done with this property? From Col. Man's letter we gather that only $1,200 have been distributed —a sum of $68,800 finding its way to the hands of the sufferers from the riots, and the rest having been given to the Supts and the police. Col. Man states that, not of the property being trust, it cannot be sold without a short Act of Council giving a valid title to the purchaser. Has, we ask again, anything been done in the matter since Col. Man addressed the Government on the subject? Col. Man gives the expenses of the Riot Commission at $392.02 and $133 for legal expenses.

A correspondent says that European prestige in Singapore is being injured from the following circumstance:— Quite an excitement was caused in the neighbourhood in which I reside, two evenings ago, by the appearance of two European women, wearing pretty expansive civilities, one carrying about with her an umbrella, barrel organ, and other a tambourine, which they played here and there for the gratification of the astonished residents of the locality. On inquiry they informed me that they were natives of Germany. The tambourineist told me she was married, that her husband was living with her in a house they had taken in Queen Street; and that the organist (if I may use the term) was her sister-in-law.
They had come from Cebu, and intended to proceed to China after they got tired of Singapore.

U. M.'s steamer Riflemen left this port for a cruise, this morning (Nov 3), and the Sarawak steamer Gopulist for Sarawak. It was a very pretty sight to see them going out together, and they kept side by side from the time of their departure until 8.40 p.m. when the Riflemen took the lead by a little more than a ship's length, and kept so until out of sight.

In our paper of Tuesday last, we announced the loss of the Spanish barque Marguerite, Captain Olan, from Hamburg, bound to Manila, on the 20th September, near the St. Paul's and Amsterdam Islands, and that with the exception of nineteen of the crew who perished by drowning, the remainder were taken on to Batavia by the Dutch barque Jamettie which port they reached after a passage of 22 days. The Captain, Mate, and five of the crew of the Marguerite, express the greatest satisfaction at the kind treatment they experienced on board the Dutch barque Jamettie. The exact position where the Marguerite sank

SUPREME COURT. CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

Before the Hon. Chief Justice and a Jury.
Nov. 19th, 1868.

THE SHATSWELL MURDER CASE.

The Court opened at ten o'clock; when the following Jurors were called:—Messrs J. Hodgson, J. Jack, E. W. Blackwood, A. H. Hogg, N. Williams, Paulsen and Frank.

Henry Shatswell (whose appearance was in most marked contrast with his more robust state of health in August last) was charged with the wilful murder of a Chinese named Lai Akut, inasmuch as he threw a large stone from over the side of the American ship Schooler, August last, and thereby caused the death of the said Chinese, who was on board of a small barber-boat.

Mr. Pollard, Q.C., who appeared for the prisoner, instructed by Mr. Caldwell—that it would be unwise, as well as useless, to contend against the facts of the case as they appeared in the depositions, at least in so far as the fact of the man's death having been brought about by the act of the prisoner; he could not struggle against the facts, so far as manslaughter at least.

The Attorney General said that he had felt it his duty to charge the prisoner with murder, but he would content to a verdict of manslaughter on behalf of the Crown.
The Chief Justice said that the Attorney General had done quite right in bringing up the prisoner on the charge of murder, although from the depositions a verdict could not be obtained.

Shatswell, on being called on, stated that he threw a stone, which killed the man, but that nothing could be farther from his intention than the result that took place.

The Jury then returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter, and not guilty of murder, and accompanied their verdict with a strong recommendation to mercy.

Chief Justice: How can you, when you don't know the facts of the case? That is the mischief of this Colony: whatever you have heard or read outside ought to be swung away like a sheet of paper.

Mr. Pollard remarked that the facts of the case were pretty notorious.
The Attorney General said that he had no desire to press too heavily upon the prisoner, and would therefore leave the case with Mr. Pollard.

After some conversation about the facts and the motive which prompted Shatswell to throw the stone which caused Akut's death, his Lordship observed that the prisoner had taken to keep away the rum-boats was injudicious, silly, and hasty.

Mr. Pollard then addressed the Court in mitigation. He said that it would be unwise to say anything further as to the verdict now accepted; but the crime of manslaughter was one peculiarly applicable for the discretion of the Court being called into exercise. Some cases of manslaughter were barely manslaughter. The line was very fine which existed between death by misadventure and manslaughter; and there were always circumstances arising in such cases which narrowed the line, and which might fairly be taken into consideration by the Court—circumstances which always had more weight in cases of manslaughter than in cases of robbery or burglary, or any other crime. There were many grades of criminality and blameworthiness that had seen cases where the punishment had differed as much as one day's imprisonment and imprisonment for life. In this case the circumstances went to show a complete absence of intent to injure life. Great trouble had been caused with Chinese boats which came alongside with samboos and run over the season; and it was absolutely necessary for the prisoner to come on board ship, because no one could say where they might end. The Captain had given instructions to the prisoner (his first mate) to prevent the samboos from getting run; and the prisoner said that he would send a stone through the first boat which came near for that purpose. A sort of careless parade was thereupon made as if they would throw and smash the boat; and the prisoner went to Divine service on board, leaving the stone on the side of the deck. On returning, the second mate cried, "There's a run-boat," when prisoner took up the stone and dropped it over; so that there was no premeditation, and the mere fact of intent to damage the boat was done in a careless, thoughtless manner, without any clearly directed motive, prisoner never looking what effect the stone had caused.
This put the case under the part of the prosecution, the least shade of criminality, and his Lordship would bear in mind that, in addition to the trouble which they had with those rum-boats, which were there for an illegal purpose, it was exceeding difficult to catch them, as they turned and doubled like a hare before a hound. Everything was done to catch them without success previous to the extreme measure of unfortunately. The throwing of the stone was no doubt illegal, and the rum-boat people ought to have been apprehended and handed over to the police; but it was only a bare unlawful act, the unfortunate consequence of which was the death of a man who himself was illegally selling samboos on offense, by the way, which was severely punished by the Magistrate. There was no wilful disregard of life on the part of the prisoner; he was a mild, quiet man, and had never had a dispute with any one on board, and was not one of those men who were in the habit of using those interesting knuckle-duster arrangements so commonly found on board ship.

His Lordship: I wanton disregard of life; the whole case turns upon those words, and I confess a difficulty.

Mr. Pollard continued to say that he must admit thoughtlessness on prisoner's part, but to what might happen; it never occurred to him that a man or men were beneath where the stone was dropped.

His Lordship: But that ought to occur to every man. The Chief Justice then referred to a case of a policeman who, in 1863, shot a Chinaman while on duty in the harbour, and got one year's imprisonment, under Judge Hulme, who (said the C. J.) had generally a very clear head for such matters. He was then Attorney General, and charged the policeman with manslaughter, which amounted to the same thing as the present case.

Mr. Pollard replied that, in that case, the policeman shot at a boat full of people; and though in execution of his duty, he executed it in so far as he had no business to shoot a man in order to apprehend him; while this case, on the other hand, was the thoughtless carrying out of an idea to repress illegal grog-selling.

The Acting Attorney General said that he was Acting Chief Justice at the time mentioned, but did not remember the case.

The learned Q.C. was about to continue his appeal to the merciful side of His Lordship's mind, when the Chief Justice interposed by suggesting that there was one point which presented itself to his mind, viz., that it was a Chinaman who was killed, and that there were two kinds of public opinion as to the matter, draw any distinction between the life of a Chinaman and that of a foreigner; but at the same time it might be observed that the Chinese themselves had a much greater regard for human life than had the Western nations, viz., human life was less estimable among themselves. This point, however, by their punishments, which were the same for their larceny as for murder.

His Lordship: So had we once, you know—in my time.

Mr. Pollard continued. The progress of enlightenment and civilization had caused us to look with a different eye upon the value of life.

The Chief Justice intimated that he felt the difficulty.

Mr. Pollard said that, conventionally speaking, the unfortunate circumstances of the man's death was an accident in the quiet, orderly, and hitherto blameless life of the prisoner; it was an exception to the general tenor of the man's life; and the distress of mind and consequent anxiety he had felt might have been more easily concealed from the tone and manner of the prisoner, as he (Mr. P.) had himself observed. When he had been shot, he had said, "Good God, have I killed a man?" And he would put it that the sentence of the Court upon such a man could not be the same as that upon a man hardened by accumulated crimes. The learned Q.C. concluded by saying that the prisoner was very much indebted to the Attorney General for the manner in which he had conducted the case.

Captain Deane (sup. of police) showed that the offence of illegal grog-selling in harbour was a punishable offence.
Dr. Murray, who was next called, stated that he produced a medical certificate as to prisoner's state of health. In August last, the prisoner was a strong, hearty man; he has since been suffering from great depression of mind, and chronic dysentery, which lasts (in his particular case) is somewhat serious, and might probably kill him.

The Chief Justice remarked that he was shocked when he saw the prisoner yesterday.

Dr. Murray stated further that, if a sentence of even three months' imprisonment were imposed, he would appeal to the Government, that further imprisonment would ground that further imprisonment would endanger his life. He had made such applications within this last year, and he had made more on behalf of Chinese than Europeans.

Mr. Geo. F. Heard, who was called as a witness to character, stated that he had known prisoner since they were boys together; he was a very quiet man, and was not passionate so far as he had been seen.
Mr. Pollard submitted that the prisoner had been nearly four months in Goal already.

The Attorney General observed that he was not aware that the Medical Officer had power to apply for remission of sentence; but if it had been done, he supposed it could be done in this case also.

Mr. Pollard said he hoped the Court would pass upon the prisoner a sentence which might make the punishment capital.

The Attorney General, however, put it that the health of the prisoner was not a matter for the consideration of the Court.

The Chief Justice said he would consider the matter; but Mr. Pollard begged his Lordship to deal with the case at once. His Lordship suggested that bail could be accepted before sentence; but the Attorney General said that it could not be granted after a verdict.

His Lordship observed that it was a serious question; and as the Crown prosecutor put it, resolved itself into a question of either endangering the prisoner's health or getting him off scot free. He had never heard the point raised in a Court before.

The case having stood over for some time, Mr. Pollard produced some clues for the assistance of the Court—one of which was that a man who was found only one shilling for involuntary manslaughter.

The Chief Justice asked if the Attorney General could give him any assistance in the matter; to which Mr. Pollard replied that he had already said all he had to say.

His Lordship then passed sentence. He said that, since he saw the prisoner yesterday, the case had given him great anxiety and trouble; but he had received great assistance from the most effective way which Mr. Pollard addressed him on the subject—assistance which he never failed to receive, when the learned counsel addressed him in the manner he had now done.

He gave the prisoner the benefit of the injunction he had received from the captain to drive away the rum-vessels; but the way in which he had carried out that order was most injudicious and dangerous, and the result was such as the prisoner must deeply lament till the last day of his life.

He gave him credit for deep regret at having been the means of causing a man's death; but it was not enough only to repent of what had been done. He (prisoner) must be punished for the wrong done. His Lordship further said that he was thankful for his own sake and that of the prisoner, that Dr. Murray had given him evidence, and made him acquainted with the serious state of his (the prisoner's) health. Had he been in full health, the punishment could not have been less than one year's imprisonment with hard labour; but the Court could not do so, in the face of Dr. Murray's evidence. He feared, however, that the leniency of the Court might be construed into disregard of human life. The sentence of the Court was that the prisoner pay a fine of $500, and be imprisoned for three months, unless the fine be sooner paid; upon payment of the fine, prisoner to be immediately discharged.

If the prisoner thought he had not received the mercy he deserved from the Court, he could appeal to the fountain head of mercy in this Colony. Fine was no compensation for human life. He had been as lenient as he dared; and he would have been more so, had it been possible.
Prisoner was then removed.

THE YANKEE MURDER CASE.

Lau Asing and Lume Asing were not charged with the wilful murder of William Yankee, at the Kowloon Docks. Mr.
Haylar appeared for the prisoners, instructed by Mr. Gaskell. The only evidence concerning the prisoners with the attack upon Mr. Yankee's burglar, during which the murder was committed, was a confession taken down by Mr. Crouch, deputy-superintendent of Police, from statements made by the prisoner. But it appeared that, although the prisoners were cautioned, the proper form of caution—which includes the intimation that whatever they said might be produced in evidence against them—had not been given.

Mr. Haylar contended that it was not admissible as evidence. Upon this point a long discussion ensued; and Mr. Deane was examined, in Mr. Crouch's absence.

The Attorney General said he would leave the matter to His Lordship. He disapproved of the manner in which the evidence was obtained, and hoped that it would not be received.

His Lordship said he was very sorry; but he could not alter the law, and it was a very important question. He could not receive the evidence. They were probably too stringent and too squeamish on the point, but it could not be helped.

A verdict of not guilty was then consented to; but the prisoners were detained.

THE BRIBERY CASE.

Chun Chow and Lee Ahng, the two Chinamen charged with attempting to bribe Inspector Jamieson with $15, in order that the Brother Squeezer, Wong Ayew, (convicted yesterday) should not be brought to trial, were found guilty. Mr. Haylar, instructed by Mr. Gaskell, defended the first prisoner (who is shrewd to Messrs Bonnett & Co.), and urged that he was only the agent of the second prisoner; while they both intended only to bail out the prisoner Wong Ayew.—Sentence was reserved.

MR. T. T. COOPER'S JOURNEY.

The following letter, written to Mr. B. B.
by the Roman Catholic Bishop of Tientsin, gives full particulars of T. T. Cooper's late adventures. We need hardly remind our readers that the writer has shown great and
his travels in the West of China. We must explain that the "Ou-yai" he speaks of, is the city we have written of as "Wei-sai."

D.S. Ta Tsien-loo, 21st September, 1868.
The following letter, written to Mr. B. B.
by the Roman Catholic Bishop of Tientsin,
gives full particulars of T. T. Cooper's late
the city we have written of as "Wei-sai."

I am, Sir, with these few remarks upon an event, very significant in my eyes; you will see more clearly what kind of friends are many and many Chinese Mandarins for all Europeans at large; you will easily understand my great anxiety about the Christians and Missionaries we have in the very territory, and, of course, in the hands of a wretch like Tien Chiang-loo.

There are many other highly interesting circumstances, and numerous scientific observations, which I do not state here; Mr. Cooper will do it himself. This short account is plain enough, I hope to make you truly informed of, and not too much uneasy about, the dangers and paramount difficulties encountered in his way by our bold prisoner of Ou-yai.

Happy to renew the assurance of my respect, on such a nature, I beg to subscribe myself again, Sir, your obedient servant.

JOSEPH MARY TIERNEY,
Bishop of Sebastopolis, Vic. Ap. of Tibet.
P.S.—I foresee a little objection. You will say perhaps, was it right that Mr.
Cooper should run the risk of passing the Imperial lines? I answer, perfectly right.
We have at this moment at Tsien-loo many Chinese or Mahomedan soldiers who have come directly from Tai-y, Ho-king, Ty-tseang, A-tai-tse, Chong-tien, and other places in Chinese and Mahomedan territory bringing with them their merchandise, paying only a heavy duty. There is no prohibition at all for Chinamen to pass from Imperial lines to Mahomedan towns, or vice versa. I have passed myself often times.

Therefore Mr. Cooper is offered by any Chinese law by overlooking to reach Tai-y. Moreover, this is proved by the fact itself of a very clear and formal pasport given to him by the good general Lienhouan.

THE EARTHQUAKE IN SOUTH AMERICA.

Out of 49 ships loading at the Chinese Islands only six did not suffer damage.
The rest were badly damaged by the sea.
The number of victims is as yet unknown.
The Panama Star says:—"Counting only what is known up to the present, the overthrow of more than 200 leagues. More than 300,000 persons have remained without shelter and without food, in consequence of the horrible catastrophe." It is reported that in Tambo Valley, just beyond the new port of Hujra, near Hujra, a small town was swamp away, and out of 500 inhabitants only 20 escaped. Captain Fox, of the wrecked Liverpool barque Chamarillo, and who returns in the Taunantia, has forwarded a graphic account of the catastrophe at Arica to the West India papers. The city of Arica was laid in ruins by earthquake at five p.m. Half an hour afterwards the first part of the city was submerged by an earthquake. When the first wave receded, the shipping in the bay was lying along fathoms of water. They all ground, leaving about six feet of water alongsid.

The second return-wave was a breaking one, which totally destroyed the following vessels:—American ship Fredonia, with all on board, about 32; the Peruvian barque Rosa Riviera; the brig Edorado, with all hands; and the Peruvian frigate American which threw 300 yards above high-water mark. Her principal officers, with about 130 of her crew, were drowned. The barque Chamarillo was also thrown 500 yards above high-water mark. Captain Fox was on shore when the earthquake occurred, and despatched his boats to bring the crew of his vessel to the land, to assist the pan-stricken inhabitants, many of whom were partially buried in the ruins, some with their heads just above ground.

Among the correspondents which the American papers have received with reference to the calamity, there is an extraordinary statement to be found, made, apparently, on the authority of General Kilpatrick, United States Minister to Chili.
It is asserted that on the south side of the earthquake produced a great gulf, about five hundred fathoms were suddenly exposed to view. "They stand," said the narrator, who writes from Lima on the 28th August, "in long lines facing the sea, every one of the skeletons in preservation, the hands doubled up and supporting the chin, the knees drawn up, and the feet supporting the fleshless body." The spot upon which the dead were thus suddenly brought to light was formerly a cemetery, and it is believed that the skeletons were the remains of the Incas. The accounts further state that the horrors of the destruction caused by the earthquake are aggravated by the lawless scenes everywhere enacted. Bands of robbers have come down from the mountains and are engaged in pillaging the ruined towns. Casks of liquor are washed ashore from the wrecked ships, and afford them the means of carrying on a long orgie.

"Hunting among the ruins for valuables they will often dig out a dead body, only to pilfer it, and cast it back among the fallen ruins." The honest portion of the survivors are nearly starving. The following passage is from the same correspondent whose letter is published in the New York Times:—

"In Moque the ground opened, and as it closed again instantly caught the ill-fated people, leaving them partly projected from the earth. Here are to be seen hands protruding, feet and toes sticking out above the earth. The top of a head, and even the whole head and neck of some of the people, fingers and arms, with the bodies to which they belong shut into the gaping earth!"

THE FISHERMAN A FREEMASON.

At Rome, if the Past we can place on Belshazzar, with no fish its face on,
A tale is related,
Wherein it is stated
The Pope once was made a Freemason.

"Twas when, a young gallant and gay man,
No priest he was yet, but a layman,
And so far no meet
To sit for St. Peter,
Than Barclay and Peckin's Drayman.

A lodge-book, so goes the narration, Has turned up, his initiation Within it recorded,
Of course, then, excommunication!
It may all my eye be, and Betty Martino, but there down he's set, he Himself and no other,
Admitted as Brother,
Giovanni Mastai Ferretti.

As Plus appeared when they made him A Freemason, Art has portrayed him An apron as wearing;
Insignia bearing;
That trick has Photography played him.
Instead of cross-keys, the old Trump has Square, trowel, triangle, and compass,
A rare exhibition;
And Rome's Inquisition
About it, of course, makes no rumour.
His craft he will bring no disgrace on,
His steps if his path he retraces on,
And crown the top-story Of Italy's glory,
Hot free and accepted Pope-Mason.

GOLD IN CEYLON.

We have so frequently been deceived in regard to discoveries of gold in Ceylon, that we are inclined to receive all fresh evidence with caution. But certainly the evidence seems to be in favour of real gold having been found by a "gemming" party in Saffragam. The pieces which have reached the Outcherry are from 4 to 5 of an inch in length, of various breadths, flattened and much like specimens from New Zealand. A mass of the weight of half a sovereign, tested as true as is declared to be 22 carats—better than than sovereign gold.
The friend who sends us this intelligence anticipates "Railway to Ratnapora and to Adam's Peak!" Who can say? If not for gold yet for iron. If there are plenty of such nuggets as have reached Colombo, Ceylon will pass through
